

TINA MERANDON - BIOGRAPHY

Tina Merandon lives and works in Montreuil, France.

Her career as a photographer is often nourished by creative residencies and the link with the territories and its inhabitants. Tina Merandon conducts personal research on the relationship with the other. She places exchanges and confrontations as the subject of her work. Her themes are linked to the resolution of conflicts. Her body of work is crossed by recurring themes, the body in action through the prism of sport and dance, the animal, childhood. In close relationship with her models, human or animal, the photographer introduces an improvised choreography. In perpetual pictorial research, she works with colour and body language towards abstract or graphic forms. Everything is linked to the body, to the skin, to the gestures, whether animal or human.

Winner of the Prix jeune création 2003 for her series Syndromes, with a special mention prize Roger Pic in 2012, her work is regularly exhibited and can be found in several institutional and private collections. Tina Merandon is a professor and lecturer at the Sorbonne Paris 1, Photography option. She is represented by Galerie 127.
